Catch and Call Tracker Fun Day

Setting up the Fun Day Catching Log

- On the Set Up page, tap 'Fun Day' button.

Note the Culling Limit and Tournament Species will only show up for Tournament selection.

- Select how you want to measure your catch.

- To have mapping and saving/sharing ability GPS must be enabled to log the location of the catch.

The Set Up page is laid out similarly and has the same functionality on the Android and iOS (Apple) cellphones.

Add a Catch Button

Listing with the species image, name, measurement, and time of the catch
Note: the red pin indicates the location is logged

Adding a Catch

After you caught your fish simply select the "Add a Catch" button. The popup screen will appear where you can select the species from the species list and enter the size. For the weight measurement the units can be in Lbs., Pounds, or Kgs. And for length the measurement units can be in Inches, or Cm.

Saving the Catch

After selecting the correct species and length, tap 'Save Catch'.
The entry will be stored in the database and added to the visible log above. Only the catches for today will be visible in the listing. To see a listing of other timelines look up the Save and Share options. Not the red pin icon in front of the species image, this notes that the catch has been logged with the GPS location. To have the catch viewed on the map or saved/shared with the CSV or KML files it must have a GPS coordinate as well.
Only catches from today will appear in this list. The catch information will be saved on your device in the internal memory for you to view or share.

Editing Your Catches

For Android, long-press an entry to edit the species, measurement, or to delete the catch. The time and location of the catch can not be edited or deleted.
For iOS sipe the entry row to the left to see the Delete or Edit option appear. The time and location of the catch can not be edited or deleted.
The Edit the Catch screen is similar in layout and function, to the Add a Catch screen.
